

Our familiarity with delivery devices and our experience of machine building allows us to design and manufacture production line test equipment. This self injector pen tester is the latest product for 100% sampling with reporting to new PC software.

We made twelve machines to test the original product twenty years ago, with very different technology, it is still in use today as an essential part of the quality control process for our client.

